Business Challenge

Complex change initiatives usually carry a large amount of cost and or risk as well as being resource intensive. In many cases such initiatives transcend organisational boundaries and this requires exceptional focus and skill to ensure that the results are achieved in the set timeframe.

Very often purely internal staff, despite their obvious talent, can become entrenched in legacy issues which detract from the success of the programme. Alternatively, if the change is on a large scale, an organisation may not have enough free talent to resource the programme.

These situations are where a trusted resource provider who can provide the right skills on demand is invaluable.

Our Solution

First and foremost

High quality staff that have many years of diverse experience. The skills and project theme are cross matched to one of our most appropriate people. We also try to best match personality types with your culture and business objectives.

The Package

We provide people on a daily, weekly, monthly or even annual basis. There is a fixed fee inclusive of all UK based expenses. The fee is billed monthly and for contracts of greater than 3 months we defer 10% of the value of the contract until completion of the contract. This 10% retained amount is billed only if the high performance expectations that we have agreed have been fully met. This allows our clients to financially state their level of satisfaction.

Cover and swap

In the event of any absence of more than 3 days, we will automatically provide an equivalent resource to continue on the assignment. This is provided at no extra cost to you. Additionally, we recognise that unexpected changes can occur in complex programs and this may require a different skill set. In such cases we are willing to swap resources as necessary.

Business Benefits

Services and change are a people business. Having access to very high quality resource without the need to engage intermediaries means that resourcing or skills deficit can easily be filled without going through a lengthy recruitment process. This avoids any delays to committed timescales as well as avoiding the risk of engaging an unknown entity.

Being confident that the minimum seniority requirements have been met or in all likelihood exceeded gives you the confidence that any unforeseen exceptions can be contained, appropriately handled and that unmanaged escalation is avoided.

The surety that, in the event of unplanned absence, qualified cover will be provided is an added bonus that very often gets overlooked when hiring a contractor off the street.
